Representative Experience

Adam focuses his practice on mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions, both domestic and cross-border. In addition, he advises clients on day-to-day corporate legal issues and a wide variety of business matters, including commercial agreements, business formation and corporate structuring. Adam has broad experience advising small and large businesses, portfolio companies, as well as experience advising private equity investors and independent power producers in acquisition transactions within the renewable energy sector.

Selected representative matters include:

- Advising a Canadian power generation company in its billion-dollar acquisition of a hydroelectric portfolio on the East Coast.*
- Advising a private equity fund in its exit of an eDiscovery solutions portfolio company.*
- Advising an international retailer in its acquisition of multiple West Coast-based grocery chains.*
- Advising a healthcare organization in its sale of several hospitals out of bankruptcy.*
- Advising a Canadian power generation company in its acquisition of a wind portfolio in Texas.*

* Matters handled prior to joining the Firm.
